TRANSITION

For just the fifth time in its nearly 100-year history, Evangelical Community Hospital transitioned leadership at the end of fiscal year 2015.

Michael O'Keefe announced his retirement after a decade as President and CEO and nearly 25 years in an executive leadership role at the Hospital.

The Board of Directors appointed Kendra Aucker to succeed Mr. O'Keefe. An integral part of the Evangelical Community Hospital team of experts since 1990, Ms. Aucker served in roles associated with marketing, physician practice management, operations, and executive leadership. She was most recently Executive Vice President/Chief Operating Officer.

Together, Mr. O'Keefe and Ms. Aucker guided the Hospital through its most aggressive period of growth, including the construction of a 42,000-square-foot surgical and cardiovascular expansion, numerous practice acquisitions, and extensive renovations throughout the facility, including The Family Place.

As she leads the organization forward, Ms. Aucker is dedicated to maintaining Evangelical's strong commitment to providing high-quality, affordable care in a compassionate setting while positioning the Hospital to meet the community's healthcare needs of tomorrow. ▲

HEART AND VASCULAR CENTER

Offering Expertise and Convenience

According to a 2014 report of statistics from the American Heart Association, an estimated 85.6 million people in the United States are living with cardiovascular diseases, including heart attack, stroke, and high blood pressure.

Building on its reputation for improving the health of the Central Susquehanna Valley, Evangelical Community Hospital is answering those cardiovascular needs and further centralizing services in the new Heart and Vascular Center of Evangelical.

Standing firmly on a history of providing quality cardiac and vascular services, construction on the new Center began in January and was completed in the summer of 2015. At the Center, patients of Evangelical have a dedicated heart and vascular practice with everything in one location.

On staff to answer cardiovascular needs are Christopher Brancato, MD, FACC, Cardiologist; Robert Davis, DO, FACC, Cardiologist; Petra Lynch, MD, Interventional Cardiologist; Anuradha Tunuguntla, MD, FACC, FSCAI, Interventional Cardiologist; Todd Stefan, MD, FACS, RPVI, Vascular Surgeon; and Kelly Farrell, PA-C.

Evangelical's expertise in the area of cardiac and vascular services is shown in the numbers. In fiscal year 2014, 572 cardiac catheterizations were completed, with another 547 completed in fiscal year 2015. A staggering 4,112 vascular procedures were done in fiscal year 2014 and another 4,457 were completed in fiscal year 2015. Looking at those two years alone, it is clear that a Heart and Vascular Center will serve a growing need in the region.

The cardiology program includes minimally invasive emergent and interventional cardiac catheterizations as well as balloon angioplasty and stent placement to open blocked arteries. Additional cardiology services include diagnostic testing to identify heart issues and medical monitoring of patients who have experienced heart-related incidents.

Known for its comprehensive cardiac rehabilitation, Evangelical aids patients in building heart strength and endurance through a supervised program. In addition, patients benefit from having routine checkups with a consistent specialist to manage heart issues so they don't progress into emergencies. For cardiac emergencies there is a physician with interventional capabilities on call 24/7, 365 days a year.

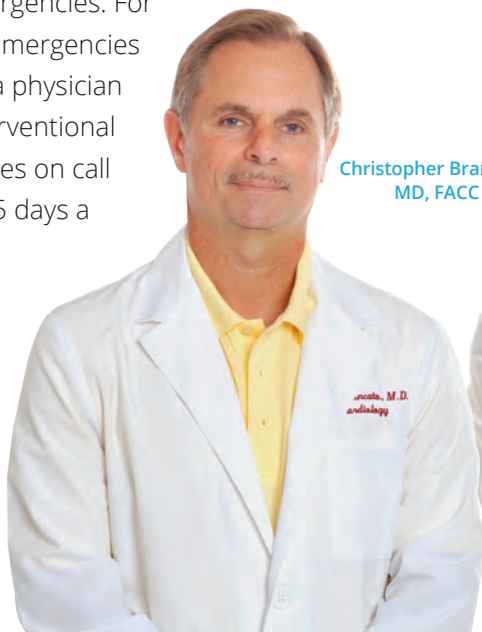

Annette Wilson, LPN, Office Supervisor, assists a patient at the newly opened Heart and Vascular Center.

Vascular services range from cosmetic in-office procedures to more extensive medical conditions associated with Peripheral Vascular Disease (PVD), or blockages and abnormalities of blood vessels outside of the heart. Vascular services include but are not limited to treatment of spider and varicose veins, which can cause leg pain and swelling; management of carotid stenosis, which can cause stroke; blockages in leg arteries, which can cause leg pain, difficulty walking, and ulcers; and aneurysms, a ballooning of a portion of an artery, which can rupture and possibly cause death.

The new Center includes a large number of exam rooms for Evangelical's specialists to efficiently diagnose and manage heart and vascular needs, with shorter wait times. The staff of the Center work in tandem with the existing exceptional staff of technologists, nurses, and rehab specialists of the Hospital's cardiovascular unit, who bring decades of experience to every procedure performed at Evangelical. ▲

“Evangelical has a sense of community and friendly atmosphere you can feel from the time you enter the doors. Building relationships with our patients develops trust, and patients who trust their caregivers are more likely to follow a plan of care, which leads them on the greatest path of healing.”

EVANGELICAL'S WOUND CARE CLINIC RECOGNIZED WITH NATIONAL AWARD FOR CLINICAL EXCELLENCE

Evangelical Community Hospital's wound care physicians, leaders, and clinicians were presented with the Center of Distinction Award by Healogics, Inc., the nation's largest provider of advanced wound care services, in fiscal year 2015.

Wound Care and Hyperbaric Medicine, located in the outpatient clinic on Evangelical's main campus, achieved outstanding clinical outcomes for 12 consecutive months, including patient satisfaction of more than 92 percent, a minimum 91 percent wound healing rate within 30 median days to heal, and other quality outcomes. Of the 511 centers eligible nationally for the Center of Distinction Award, only 157 achieved the honor.

"A center is only as good as the individuals providing the care, and at Evangelical we are definitely a Center of Distinction because of our solid core of experts," said Judy Lechler, Director, Outpatient Clinic. "From the first visit to the last, our patients are afforded the best possible care because of the excellence provided by our physicians, nurses, nutritionist, educators, surgeons, vascular specialists, and more.”

Teresa Wilson, Area Vice President of Healogics, Inc., presented the Evangelical Community Hospital Wound Care Clinic Team with the Center of Distinction Award—a national recognition of clinical excellence. Only 157 of 511 eligible wound programs received this honor.

Millions of Americans suffer from chronic wounds. Evangelical’s wound and hyperbaric program offers highly specialized wound care to patients suffering from diabetic ulcers, pressure ulcers, infections, and other chronic wounds that have not healed in a reasonable amount of time. Services include wound consultation/evaluation; ongoing assessments and treatment for consistency of care; non-invasive vascular studies; biological and biosynthetic dressings and growth-factor therapies; compression, negative pressure, and hyperbaric oxygen therapies; patient and family education; and bioengineered skin substitutes.

Evangelical’s Wound Care Clinic is a member of the Healogics network of more than 550 centers, which provides access to benchmarking data and proven experience treating more than 2 million chronic wounds.

“Our team is dedicated to the healing of troublesome wounds in a compassionate and understanding environment. Their commitment to patients on all levels, including comprehensively managing wounds and health conditions, provides patients with the care and comfort they need to enjoy life,” said Lechler. ▲

A POSITIVE OUTCOME

Continuous CPR Proves to be Lifesaver for Local Toddler

When Gardell Martin, 22 months, slipped into a swollen and cold creek bed near his Mifflinburg home, the outcome didn't look good. What in fact happened was nothing short of a miracle.

Efficient, effective emergency response and care by staff of Evangelical's Pre-Hospital Services and the Emergency Department changed the expected outcome and helped save Gardell's life.

Around 6 pm on March 11, 2015, Gardell and his brothers were playing in their yard when the older boys lost track of him. They ran inside to tell their mother, Rose, who called 911 for a search and rescue. Receiving the call at 6:20 pm, Anthony Pirraglia, EMT at Evangelical, and Michael Leshar, Paramedic at Evangelical, responded with the Mifflinburg Ambulance and were on the scene within minutes.

Upon arrival Leshar saw a neighbor carrying the motionless body of Gardell out of the stream. Leshar began resuscitation efforts while running to the rig. He knew it would take both he and Pirraglia to revive the boy. Calling command, Leshar informed them he needed an additional crewmember to drive as well as a dispatch doing chest compressions and Leshar administering rescue breaths with a manual resuscitator.

Stopping along the way, Howard Mast, Paramedic, who was off duty but heard the call for extra help, joined Pirraglia and Leshar in the rear of the rig. He immediately began preparing and administering necessary fluids directly into the child's bone marrow with a needle through the shin. Together the three worked as a team to give Gardell the best chance at survival.

Arriving at Evangelical's Emergency Department at 6:47 pm, the team transferred Gardell into a room, where they were joined by Hospital personnel who contributed to the lifesaving effort. For one hour the team delivered non-stop CPR until the young boy was transferred to Geisinger Medical Center for care.

Michael Leshar, Paramedic, with Gardell Martin

A day later, Evangelical staff learned the boy's pulse returned after one hour and 41 minutes of CPR. Not only had he survived, due largely to the non-stop lifesaving efforts of Evangelical's first responders and emergency staff, but he suffered no neurological deficit. Pediatric specialists at Geisinger reported that because Gardell's body temperature was at 77 degrees he had gone into hypothermia, which worked to his advantage because it drastically slowed his metabolism and gave his organs some degree of protection from cardiac arrest. On March 30, 2015, the Martin family returned to Evangelical again, but this time it was to visit with the medical professionals who contributed to the lifesaving efforts a few weeks earlier. The family wanted to meet the people involved with Gardell's care and thank them personally for the role they played in allowing their son to once again be a happy, normal child. ▲

DIABETES CENTER EMPHASIZES DISEASE MANAGEMENT AND LIVING WELL

A diabetes diagnosis doesn't have to be devastating. When the disease is managed well, life with diabetes can be full and rewarding.

In fiscal year 2015, the Hospital centralized its diabetes resources to form the Diabetes Center of Evangelical.

The Center offers specialized outpatient services for diabetes care and management to the Central Susquehanna Valley. A team of professionals—including a physician assistant with more than a decade of specialized endocrinology experience, a health educator, and a clinical dietitian—provides the tools necessary to diabetic patients, allowing them to take control of the disease and make informed decisions about daily care.

When blood sugar is kept close to normal, the results are evident. Patients are likely to have more energy, be less thirsty, heal better, and have fewer skin and bladder infections. Under control, diabetes also poses a lower risk of related health problems, including heart attack and stroke, nerve damage, and eye and kidney problems. Experts at the Diabetes Center treat the whole patient, providing diabetes care in conjunction with primary care physicians to help patients realize these and other benefits of good disease management. ▲

"I partner with the patient to develop a personalized meal plan designed to help manage their diabetes and achieve their health goals while enjoying foods and not feeling deprived."

The Diabetes Center of Evangelical offers specialized services for diabetes care and management, including:

- Diabetes screening
- Weight management and nutritional counseling
- Insulin pump training
- Medication management
- Self-care instruction
- Gestational diabetes treatment plans
- Counseling and support groups

KAREN DOHL

Karen A. Dohl, PA-C, began serving diabetic patients at the Diabetes Center in January 2015. She offers outpatient care and education to patients. A board-certified physician assistant trained in endocrinology, Dohl has spent the last decade of her career focusing on diabetes, thyroid disease, adrenal disease, osteoporosis, parathyroid disease, pituitary abnormalities, and many more endocrinology-related diseases and symptoms.

INFORMATION SYSTEMS UPGRADES SET STAGE FOR GROWTH

Following closely on the heels of implementing an electronic health record, Information Systems was busy again in fiscal year 2015 with a series of system upgrades that immediately improved the Hospital's information technology infrastructure and set a solid foundation for future growth.

Infor Lawson—an industry-leading business management software suite—streamlined Evangelical's payroll, accounts payable, and supply chain systems, automating manual processes and narrowing the use of separate systems.

The Infor Lawson installation was paired with a timekeeping system upgrade, Kronos. The new system provides better analytics, more uniform policy enforcement, and a modern interface for managers. Kronos also positions the Hospital to move toward a self-service environment for employees.

Managing the Kronos and Infor Lawson transitions simultaneously required a herculean effort from the Information Systems team and a balance of patience and cooperation from the staff of every department. ▲

“My team really worked tirelessly for months during the upgrades, but those efforts would have been in vain without the support of everyone at the Hospital.”

— Dale Moyer, Vice President of Information Systems

“As an IT professional, I look for an employer who is innovative and progressive. At Evangelical, the IT systems are constantly evaluated to ensure they are the most efficient and on the cutting edge.”

CANCER SERVICES PROVIDE COORDINATION OF CARE

Through its ongoing work with the Commission on Cancer, Evangelical in fiscal year 2015 initialized a new model of care delivery for a spectrum of cancers based on the success shown through its breast cancer program.

The expanded cancer program treats the whole patient from diagnosis through treatment and survivorship. Patients at Evangelical have access to a navigator who guides them through the complex world of cancer diagnosis. From the initial finding of a cancer, a consistent navigator becomes the patient's advocate.

The role of the navigator is to aid patients in knowing their options for care and the resources at their disposal so they can make the best decisions for themselves and their families. The services chosen by the patient may be provided by Evangelical or other healthcare facilities; the goal of the Evangelical program is to make sure whatever services are chosen are consistent, of high quality, and are determined to be right for the patient.

Each patient's case is reviewed by a multidisciplinary team to create a comprehensive medical care plan. The plan is vetted through the team and coincides with established standards of care set forth by the Commission on Cancer.

Once the plan is created, medical experts work together to implement each step. The patient's navigator ensures everything is documented and treatments are falling into the order they must for optimal effectiveness.

Levi Burkholder, CNMT, prepares a patient for a scan in the new, in-house PET/CT scanner, which can detect disease and monitor the progress of cancer treatment.

2015 GALA

A pivotal point for patients is care beyond medical. At Evangelical there is a strong focus on the psychological and emotional needs of the patient. Individuals find themselves adding cancer treatment to their already hectic lives, and when those two collide, barriers to care can occur. Some of those obstacles include financial concerns, the need to maintain a household where the patient may be caring for a child or a loved one, transportation issues for appointments, depression associated with diagnosis, and more. Identifying patients' concerns is a tenet to the success of their care, and part of the commitment of Evangelical is to provide individuals with access to the resources needed to handle those issues as they arise and put patients on a path to healing.

The expanded program builds from Evangelical's working relationships with other area healthcare facilities and organizations. Patients who come to Evangelical for the management of their care can benefit from research trials, genetic testing, second opinions, resources from other healthcare facilities, and more. ▲

Evangalical Community Hospital's signature celebration, the Evangelical Gala, was held on Saturday, March 7, 2015, and garnered more than $105,000, the highest amount ever raised at the event.

Proceeds from this year's Gala—including ticket sales, auction bids, sponsorships, and donations—support Evangelical's cancer care initiatives. Committed to providing families of the Central Susquehanna Valley with personalized and state-of-the-art cancer services, the monies raised will be used to fund leading-edge technology, lifesaving treatment options, genetic testing, and research trials, as well as pioneering survivorship support programming.

The well-attended Roaring '20s themed Gala, held at Larison Hall on the Bucknell University campus, saw nearly 300 people in their finest attire enjoying the evening of silent auction, dinner, and dancing. Stantec was the 2015 Grand Sponsor for the event. ▲

NATIONAL RESPONSE TO EBOLA ALLOWS EVANGELICAL TO HONE PROTOCOLS

In September and October 2014, media reports revealed the Ebola virus had entered the United States. The potentially fatal virus is spread by contact with body fluids, such as blood, of an infected human. Ebola presents with a fever, sore throat, muscular pain, and headaches. Then vomiting, diarrhea, and rash usually follow, along with decreased function of the liver and kidneys.

Evangelical, like all hospitals throughout the nation, immediately examined its emergency preparedness plans. Through fully coordinated, weekly meetings with all departments of the Hospital, clinical and non-clinical, every aspect of infection control was examined along with protocols of what would happen should a patient infected by the disease present to the Emergency Department.

As a result, Evangelical stands ready and vigilant against Ebola and other viruses like it. Protocols include asking anyone who exhibits the symptoms their most recent travel history, as well as having staff in all areas of care practiced with suiting up in Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) and trained in infectious disease response. ▲

Johnette Bennage, RN, BSN, CEN, assists Patti Faux, RN, CEN, CPEN, as she suits up in the Personal Protective Equipment.

FREDERICK LAPP, MD | PHYSICIAN, EMERGENCY DEPARTMENT

"In the Emergency Department we see people when they are the most vulnerable. By taking the time to listen to their story, sitting down as often as possible to really be with them, I am able to evaluate and effectively treat them in a trusting and comfortable environment."

KITCHEN AND DINING EXPERIENCE PRIORITIES OF LATEST RENOVATION

February 2015 saw the dining room and kitchen close to the public to begin an ambitious one-year renovation project designed to better serve patients, their guests, and employees. The first phase of renovation included the addition of The Café, located in the main lobby. The Café quickly became the hot spot for dining convenience for both visitors and employees.

The new kitchen and dining area is expected to be unveiled in early 2016 and will reopen as the O’Keefe Dining Room in honor of Michael N. O’Keefe, who retired as CEO and President of Evangelical in June 2015. Mr. O’Keefe began his tenure at Evangelical in 1991 when he was hired as Vice President of Operations and later served as Executive Vice President/Chief Operating Officer. Since 2004, he has guided Evangelical as its President and CEO through the most significant growth period in the Hospital’s history.

The above artistic renderings provide a visualization of the new dining room and serving area, currently under construction.

SHERRY BOTTIGER, RN | SURGICAL SERVICES

"I make a difference for the patient by taking the fear out of the hospital environment by using humor to alleviate stresses and worries. I like to treat the patients like they are members of my own family."

FINANCIAL REPORT

Amid tidal changes in the healthcare industry that include reductions in reimbursements, a shift from volume to value, and increased calls for transparency in every facet of the operation, Evangelical Community Hospital continues to deliver high-quality, affordable care from a solid fiscal foundation.

With total net assets increasing by more than $11 million, Evangelical reinvested more than $14 million in new programs, services, and technology in fiscal year 2015. Evangelical is now the only hospital in the region with an interior PET/CT scanner, a piece of imaging equipment frequently used in the diagnosis of cancer. All other hospitals in the market utilize mobile units, requiring patients to travel outside for services. A new magnetic resonance imaging (MRI) unit was secured for a satellite office in Selinsgrove, and the Thyra M. Humphreys Center for Breast Health added 3-D mammography and whole breast ultrasound to its imaging capabilities.

Additional capital investments included upgrades to information technology systems, construction of the Heart and Vascular Center of Evangelical, and extensive renovations to the Hospital kitchen and dining room.

The Board of Directors' and administrative team's commitment to positioning the Hospital on solid financial footing while maintaining its ability to provide the most needed services in the community has recently been recognized.

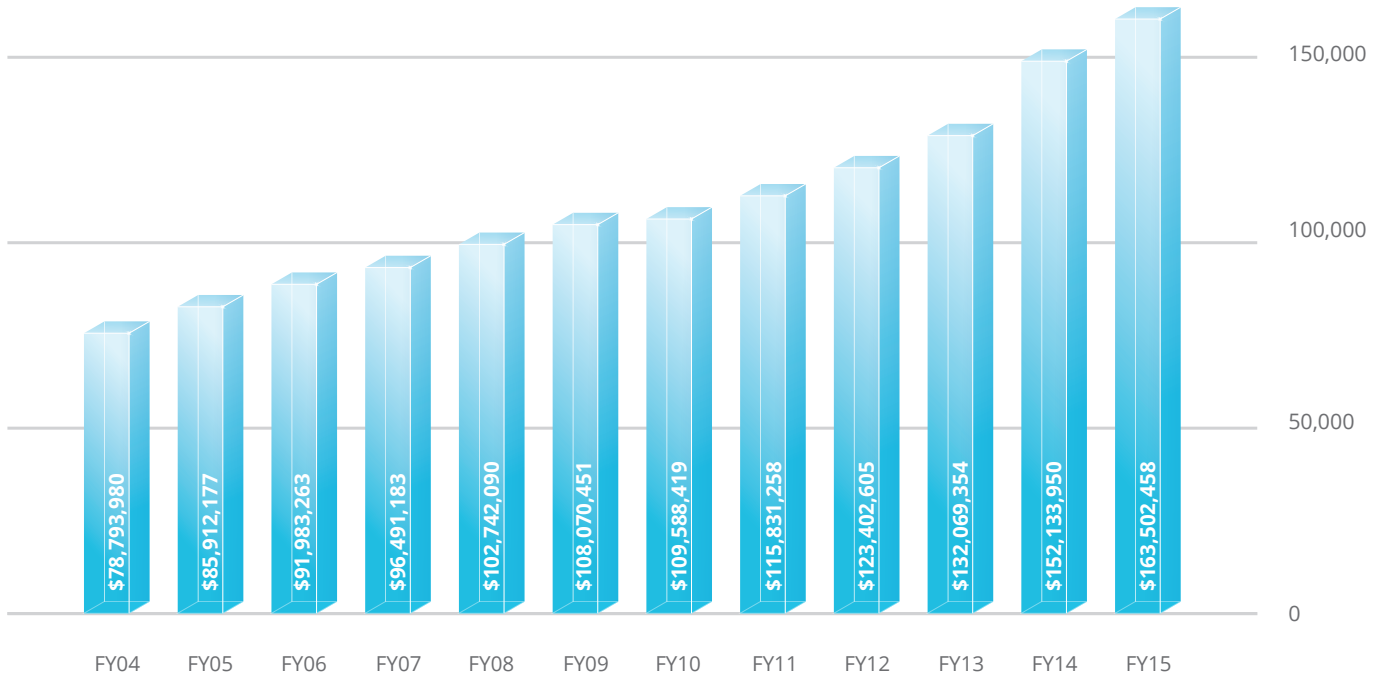

Standard & Poor's Rating Services, a leading provider of credit ratings, research, and analytics, recently raised its rating on Union County Hospital Authority's hospital revenue debt, issued for Evangelical Community Hospital, to A- with a stable outlook from BBB+.

Evangelical earned the A- rating by reaching consistent, historically positive operating results, having ample unrestricted reserves, light leverage, and continued improvement in its liquidity.

COMMUNITY BENEFIT REPORT 2015

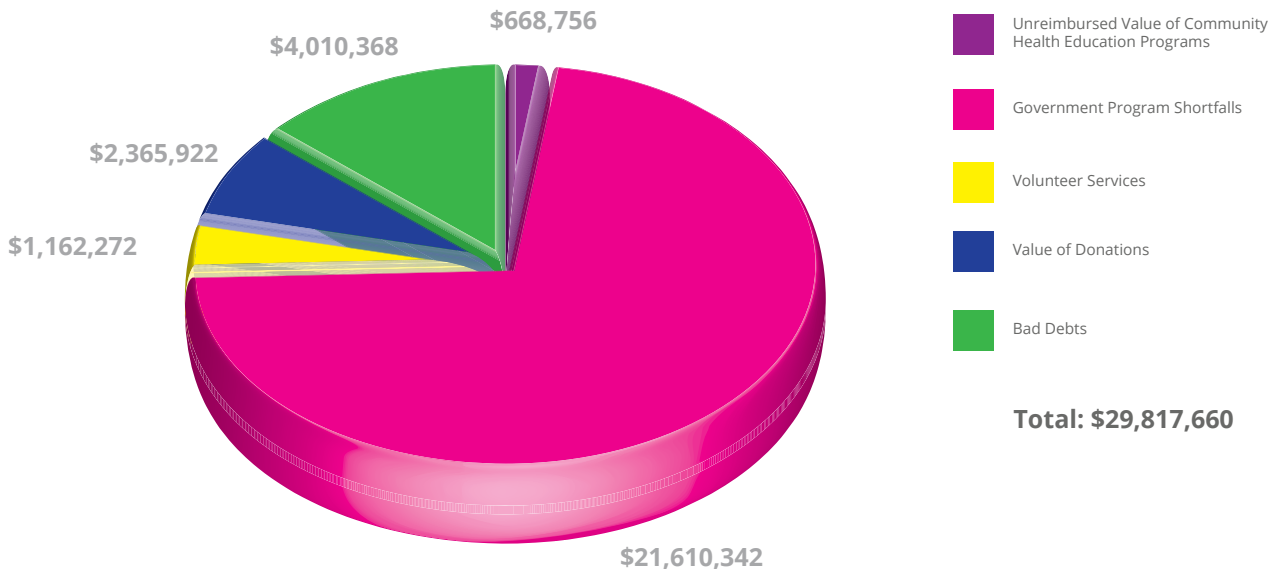

Evangelical Community Hospital is dedicated to improving the health and well-being of the Central Susquehanna Valley. The Hospital consistently invests time and finances into community benefit initiatives throughout the region. In fiscal year 2015, Evangelical contributed more than $29 million to cultivating healthy lifestyles in the community. In addition to monetary donations, the Hospital provides programs such as CPR training, prepared childbirth classes, and youth education.

As part of the Hospital's dedication to meeting the needs of individuals in its service area, Evangelical participated in a Community Health Needs Assessment (CHNA). Regional leaders reviewed data and recognized improving access to healthcare, improving healthy behaviors, and access to transportation for healthcare services as priorities.

Through providing a variety of healthcare services to the community at little or no cost, Evangelical has worked toward making healthcare more accessible. Each year Evangelical's Community Health and Wellness Department offers skin cancer, heart, blood, and gender-specific health screenings that contribute to reaching this objective. In addition, vaccinations for flu, tetanus, diphtheria, and pertussis are also offered.

Changing healthy behaviors is an individual choice, and Evangelical offers youth education programs like bike helmet giveaways, Heart Power, Germ City, Girls on the Run, and MyPlate to give children a foundation of healthy habits. Support group services, smoking cessation, Why Weight?, and Senior Strong programs help adults learn or continue healthy behaviors.

ACT 55 UNCOMPENSATED SERVICES

Increased access to transportation is an ongoing concern for those living in the Central Susquehanna Valley. The Hospital is working with a regional taskforce to help identify solutions for the entire area.

Evangelical Community Hospital is committed to meeting the needs of the Central Susquehanna Valley. Over the next three years the Hospital's Community Health Needs Assessment will focus on behavioral health and substance abuse, health concerns related to lifestyle, the impact of socio-economic status on health outcomes, and access to healthcare. These key priorities will shape the Hospital's educational programs and classes to ensure the needs of the community are met.

This Community Benefit Report outlines Evangelical's many contributions to the Central Susquehanna Valley during fiscal year 2015. ▲
